Current Progress at the Site

This facility is one of EPA Region III's high priority RCRA corrective action sites. It is located in Slatington, PA and consists of approximately 19 acres. On November 8, 2001 PADEP, and EPA's contractor conducted a site visit to assess the current condition at the facility. The purpose of the visit is to determine if the facility meets the Environmental Indicators (EIs) for Human Exposures and Migration of Contaminated Groundwater. Based on the information gathered from the site visit and numerous file reviews, EPA concluded that field sampling is needed to make a determination. EPA in collaboration with PADEP, completed the initial sampling in August 2004. Based on the results of the initial sampling EPA determined that additional groundwater, soil, sediment, and surface water sampling are required to determine if the EIs are under control. If releases are identified, EPA will determine whether or not a facility investigation or any clean-up measures are necessary to protect human health and the environment.

Site Responsibility
